NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H. R. Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO JANUARY 12

Washington News.

WASHINGTON Jan 12 —The Senate confirmed Henry W Blodgett Judge of Morrill's District in Illinois

A commission to select a site for the new State Department building held a meeting to day and approved the architecture of the plan. It is understood the site selected is Scott's Square Vermont Avenue two blocks north of the Executive Mansion

Congressional

WASHINGTON Jan 12 —In the House Wood presented a joint resolution of the New York Legislature withholding the assent heretofore given ratifying the 15th amendment It was tabled

Several bills were introduced and referred

WASHINGTON Jan 12 —In the House several resolutions of inquiry and instruction were offered and adopted, and a number of bills were introduced and referred

The House took up and resumed consideration of the bill to admit Virginia to representation in Congress Mr Farnsworth addressed the House in explanation and advocacy of the bill and was followed by Paine on the same side Morgan opposed the bill and favored the substitute of Bingham Adjourned

In the Senate Conkling presented the resolutions of the Legislature of New York withdrawing their assent to the 15th amendment He stated that he thus discharged a distasteful duty and at another time would show how little consideration such proceedings deserved at the hands of the Senate.

Drake offered a resolution that Indian treaties be considered in open session, tabled.

Sumner introduced a bill authorizing the funding of the debt to extend banking facilities and establish specie payments. He says the bill contemplated the prompt extinguishment of five twenties of 1862 and the ultimate funding of the debt into 5 per cent, 10-40 s, payable in coin. In regard to National Banks, he proposed to reduce the interest on bonds deposited by them with the Government, and extend note facilities, especially in the West and South. The bill sought to bring national obligations to par with coin and resume specie payment without bad effect.

The Virginia bill was then taken up The consideration of Drake's amendment prohibiting the rescinding of the ratification of the 15th amendment by Virginia was resumed

Texas Election—Republican Success

A telegram received at the War Department dated Austin, Texas January 10th from Gen Reynolds announces officially the almost unanimous adoption of the Constitution and the election of Davis for Governor by 782 plurality and the rest of the same ticket for State officers also that the persons elected have been appointed officers of the Provisional Government

Appointment for Washington Territory

The President to-day nominated M S Drew as Collector of Customs at Puget Sound

Georgia—Assembling of the Legislature.

ATLANTA, Jan 12.—The Assembly members have been sworn in, and the Legislature will be organized to-morrow It is believed that the Democrats and Conservatives will have a majority in both Houses. Great excitement prevails in the city which is crowded with visitors The general opinion is that any citizen having held office of any kind during the rebellion cannot take the oath, but if he never held office State or national, before the rebellion he can legally take the oath, no matter what his conduct was during the rebellion

Message of Governor of New Jersey

TRENTON, Jan 12 —A message from Governor Randolph shows an excess of receipts over expenditures, and assets enough on hand to pay all the debts of the State Stevens' battery was being rapidly completed and would be the most formidable war vessel extant He opposes the Fifteenth Amendment

From the Southwest

NEW ORLEANS, Jan 12.—Wickliffe has demanded a Legislative investigation of the Governor's charges against him

JACKSON, Jan. 12.—The Legislature met yesterday and effected a temporary organization

New York News

NEW YORK, Jan 12.—The journeymen piano-forte makers have threatened to strike in consequence of a contemplated reduction of their wages

Several witnesses have been summoned by telegraph from this city, to appear before the Banking and Currency Committee at Washington to give testimony in regard to the recent gold operations in Wall street It is not probable that the Committee will hold another session in this city, but they express an intention to fully investigate the matter

The Mozart Hall Democrats, under the leadership of Ben Wood are about to take the war path Yesterday various Ward delegations sent in the names of Inspectors for each district for the Primary elections to take place in a few days It is rumored that a number of the disaffected of Tammany have gone over to Mozart but nothing further has been heard

Cook, the absconding clerical libertine and the young lady who fled with him it is the impression of the friends of Miss Johnson have gone South, but circumstances also point to England as the probable place of refuge Cook is heir to a large entailed property and will become wealthy upon the death of his uncle there It has been accredited that he has spent weeks before his flight in borrowing money from his parishioners and that he secured many thousand dollars The accounts of Cook, taken in connection with his recent villainy here leave no doubt that he is a deliberate cold blooded scoundrel No palliation of this offence on the score of mental infirmity or the use of liquor or opium can be charged

Kansas Legislature

ST LOUIS Jan 12 —The Kansas Legislature convened yesterday in the new Capitol building at Topeka Jacob Stotler of the Empire News was elected Speaker of the House A full list of officers was elected including Miss Emma Campbell of Topeka, Enrolling Clerk The Governor's message will be delivered to morrow All the officers of the House are either crippled soldiers widows or soldiers' orphans

Georgia Legislature—Chivalry on the Rampage

CHICAGO Jan 11 —The Tribune's Atlanta special says the Georgia Legislature met at noon yesterday The galleries were filled with spectators A L Harris called the house to order When the members had been sworn the Chair ordered the opinion of the Attorney General to be read in regard to the scope of the oath prescribed by Congress Accompanying it was a communication from General Terry indorsing the opinion The reading was soon interrupted by C J Bryant of Augusta who uttered a protest against the reading of this document The Chairman called him to order but he persisted that he was a member elect of this House and would stand on his rights The Chairman ordered the Sergeants at Arms to arrest him These officers approached and one Sergeant laid his hand upon his shoulder and asked him to sit down Bryant raised his cane in a menacing manner and threatened to strike if he arrested him whereupon the latter drew a pistol Men arose in various parts of the hall with pistols out and asked if order could not be restored There was now great excitement Bryant and the Chairman were alternately cheered from the galleries and there were indications of serious trouble Quiet was partially restored when Bryant moved that Caldwell of Upson county take the Chair, whereupon a greater fusion ensued Bryant made a motion to adjourn put the question himself and declared the House adjourned The Chairman Harris said that he was here to organize this House If he could not do it without assistance, he would procure it This was followed by another tumult among the disturbers when several members left the hall and the work of administering oaths proceeded without further disturbances

NEW YORK Jan 11 A special from Atlanta says the Georgia Legislature met yesterday in compliance with the orders of Provisional Governor Bullock The Senate organized quickly by the choice of Republican officers In the House there seems to have been considerable disorder and confusion but while pistols were flourished and threats freely indulged in happily no actual violence was perpetrated The House adjourned until to day without completing its organization

Tennessee Constitutional Convention

NASHVILLE Jan 12 —In the Constitutional Convention to day among the propositions offered was one restricting the right of suffrage to white persons and one prohibiting the Legislature from authorizing the intermarriage of whites and blacks

COLUMBUS (Ohio) Jan 13 —The striking operators of the Western Union Telegraph Company resumed work this afternoon

Terrible Explosions.

CHICAGO Jan 11 While Mrs R F Hunterman living on Brady street this morning was filling a reservoir of gasodo fluid the can containing the gasodo exploded with frightful violence covering Mrs Hunterman her husband and two children Mrs Hunterman and the two children are probably fatally burned.

A car of burning fluid exploded at 1335 West Randolph street last night blowing out the windows of the house and setting the building on fire.

Rudolph, the celebrated billiard player, yesterday wrote Deery requesting information as to where the game for the championship should be played

Destructive Fire at Cheyenne

CHEYENNE Jan 11.—This city was visited by a destructive fire to-day Two blocks were burned. The loss is estimated at half a million The owners of the buildings are already contracting for new ones.

Roughs at Church.

MONTREAL Jan 11.—Last night Father Chiniquy again preached in the Protestant church which was crowded A large number of roughs congregated on the outside and kept up a continued yelling to the close of the service Several stones were thrown through the windows when the police charged in the midst of the mob and scattered them and afterwards escorted Chiniquy through the crowd and guarded the building from further violence

Miscellaneous.

PROVIDENCE Jan 12.—The works of the National Sulphur company at Bristol, were partly burned yesterday Loss, nearly $500 000, fully insured

GALVESTON, Jan 12 —The steamship Enterprise laden with 1 000 bales of cotton and an assorted cargo was burned to-day in Galveston bay

MOBILE Jan 12 —Dr A McClusky an eminent physician of this city is dead

RUTLAND, Vt. Jan 12 —The Castleton National Bank was broken open on Monday last and $5 400 taken

KEY WEST Jan 12 —The flag ship Severn with the monitors Dictator and Saugus sailed last evening for Cuba

CONCORD N H Jan 12.—The State Temperance Convention to day nominated Rev L H Burrows for Governor and Col H. O. Price for Railroad Commissioner A portion of the Convention seceded and refused to concur in its action.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

PARIS, Jan 11.—The city is greatly excited over the tragedy which occurred yesterday afternoon Prince Bonaparte's version of the affair was furnished to the journals to day by Paul Cassagnac who says the Prince made the following statement to him upon his honor: "M. Trouvenil and M Victor Noire came to my residence with a menacing air their hands in their pockets and presented a letter from M Paschal Grousset. I said 'tis Rochefort's note, his creatures I seek Read the letter' replied Noire I had my hand on a pistol in my pocket. 'Are you responsible for it' I said. At this I received a slap in my face from Noire when I drew my revolver and fired at him Trouvenil crouched behind a chair, and from this position that afforded aimed his revolver at me, but could not get it off, and I fired at him while he was in that position when he ran out of the room. He stepped into the room again and turned the pistol towards me I fired at him again and he fled."

The Journal Officiel this morning contains a decree convoking the Chambers for the purpose of bringing on an action [illegible] High Court of Justice to decide upon the charge of homicide against Prince Bonaparte the Prince belonging to the Emperor's family. An examination must be held before this Court.

The Journal in its account of the transaction says that the Minister of Justice as soon as he heard of the affair ordered the arrest of the Prince but four hours before the issuance of the order he had surrendered himself into the custody of the Commissioner of Police of Auteuil and had been taken to the Conciergerie

The office of the Marseillaise Rochfort's newspaper has been seized by the order of the government

LONDON Jan 11 —Negotiations for the consolidation of the interests between the Anglo-American and French Cable Companies is progressing favorably Already it has been agreed that the two companies will work harmoniously together as capitalists in the aggregate receipts and divide the profits upon an agreed basis, though negotiations for still closer arrangements should fail.

PARIS Jan 11 —At a meeting of the Corps Legislatif to-day, M Simon Monpaigraux proposed that members of the Imperial family be rendered amenable to law He said he had no intention of creating trouble, but wished simply to do away with unlawful exceptions Rochefort referred in bitter terms to the murder of Victor Noire and said now it was that our people could judge his murderer who, though cousin to the Emperor must not be allowed to perpetrate crime. Ollivier in reply promised he should have Justice. In the course of his speech he used the words

We are for justice law and moderation; if you force us we will be for power

A communication from the Procurer was laid before the Chamber demanding the arraignment of Deputy Henri Rochefort for an outrage against the Emperor in exciting disorder and violence The demand was referred to a committee for report

Ollivier with the approval of the Emperor issued an order permitting the free return to France of Ledru Rollin and other prisoners in the same position

PARIS Jan 12 —The Marseillaise, published yesterday morning contained the following leader, printed in large type and headed The murder committed by the Prince Pierre Bonaparte upon citizen Noire— the attempted murder by Prince Pierre Bonaparte upon citizen Ulrich De Fonvielle I have had the weakness to believe a Bonaparte could be other than an assassin I have dared to imagine that a fair duel was possible in that family where murder and waylaying are traditional and habitual our co-laborer Paschal Grousset has showed my error and to day we mourn our dear friend Victor Noire assassinated by the ruffian Pierre Napoleon Bonaparte. For eighteen years past France has been in the blood stained hands of those cut throats who not content with grape-shooting Republicans in the streets allure them into baited traps for the purpose of slaughtering them at home People of France have you not had decidedly enough of this? Peuple Francais est ce que decidement vous trouvez pas assez

(Signed) HENRI ROCHEFORT

The Marseillaise was very violent again this morning and the entire issue was, therefore seized by the authorities

LONDON Jan 11 —A disturbance has broken out in the Austrian Cabinet and a ministerial crisis is impending

The plan for an international Government Exhibition to be held in London the ensuing summer was matured last night Gladstone presided over the meeting Agricultural Hall has been engaged for the meeting

The Crown has seized some land near Stockwell which belonged to George Peabody on the ground that Peabody was an alien and therefore unable to hold land in the Kingdom

Heavy holders in English Cable stock are unwilling to amalgamate with the French Cable Co

Changes have been made in the Greek Cabinet

BIRMINGHAM Jan 11 The members of Parliament addressed their constituents at the Town Hall to night John Bright appeared on the platform and met an enthusiastic reception He made quite an elaborate speech Resolutions were passed thanking the Ministry for its general policy especially for its course in regard to the Irish Church Bright thanked his fellow citizens for their resolutions conveying as they did an avowal of confidence in the Government. He believed at the end of the next session of Parliament a similar vote will be carried Alluding to the disestablishment of the Irish Church he said his constituents had spoken loud enough for all to hear for all to understand It was one of the completest measures ever presented to the House of Commons but difficulty occurred in the House of Lords the place of the greatest antiquity and the greatest influence On this occasion there was more passion displayed than is generally seen there bringing the occupants of benches to the edge of an ugly precipice. Passion, however cooled on wise reflection, and after mutual compliment and congratulation the bill was passed by the Lords who thus admitted that no institution however ancient, grand or hierarchical is safe if opposed to the convictions and views of the people Considering the constitutional training of the people their friends might well rejoice that Catholic grievances were extinguished. Irish grievances only were left. He now only asked that Parliament do something for the Irish now that the Catholics were disposed of The reform difficulty question appeared formidable at a distance, but not insurmountable upon near approach The state of Ireland might be painted in a few words Land had few owners while half of the population were tenants at will of the owners who neglected to cultivate the soil but faithfully collected the rent Industries home and life of the tenant were at his mercy or that of his agents Such a reign of discord must be stopped. Three hundred thousand policemen and soldiers must be withdrawn from Ireland. The question was the hardest ever presented to the people or Parliament. The government was preparing a measure of reform for serious popular consideration and invoked for them no party opposition. A party fight over the measure would be unpatriotic. He [illegible] now [illegible] reforms must [illegible] Parliament can do as much for Ireland as if were it an independent American State, it would do for itself. Ireland now has churches and schools and soon will have free lands and votes We propose a new conquest of Ireland without shedding blood. Thief Cries "Stop Thief"

The Democracy of Polk county are gifted with effrontery to a degree that must excite general astonishment if not admiration A few days since the Democratic Club of Bethel precinct held a meeting and adopted a series of resolutions among which we find these gems

Resolved, That we the Democrats of Bethel precinct, will withdraw our patronage from those who attempt to secure the election of the Republican nominations by the importation of votes in to this county

Resolved, That we request our Democratic brethren to co operate with us in our undertaking for a fair and honest election in the Bethel precinct and throughout the country generally

We call that about as cool and refreshing as anything that has lately appeared in public print, considering the history of immigration and importations into Polk county It has not, perhaps, passed out of the memory of some of the "oldest inhabitants," how these honest (?) Democrats of Polk county bargained for and bought in the city of Portland, in 1864, forty votes to be imported into Polk county to help these incorruptible and fair-dealing Democrats carry the election over the heads of the bona fide resident majority of Republicans There are men now living in Portland who could tell the names of the parties with whom the purchase was negotiated and who forwarded the honest thugs to Polk county There are men now living in Polk county who could tell the names of many of the subscribers to the fund raised in Polk and Marion counties to pay the thugs their price for emigrating to Polk county and to fraudulently vote the Democratic ticket. There is now living at Salem at least one man who could tell of having paid out of his own pocket, the per capita prices of several of these thugs, both before and after the election, how, being treasurer of the high minded and honorable association to promote immigration, he was "let in" for considerable more than his original quota, through the defaulting of numerous Polk county subscribers to the thug-importation fund, how getting tired of that sort of thing he refused to pay any more and told one of the thugs who threatened to blow, to "blow and be d—d;" and how not only this thug but other thugs who failed to get their honest wages, did "blow."

It certainly has not passed out of the memory of some who are younger than the "oldest inhabitants," how, in a subsequent season just before election, there was a great flocking of Democratic emigrants from Marion county into Polk—young men and loose men—to supply a sudden and unprecedented demand for herders of cattle. There are now living in Marion county, Democrats who could tell how much it cost them to send eight, ten, or twelve cattle into Polk county, with four to six or eight herders—all Democratic voters; how and where they were quartered with trusty Democratic managers, some of them on ranges where in May and June, they had actually to buy feed for their stock; how much of their expenditures in this behalf they never have got back to this day. There are at least one or two men in Linn and Lane counties, each, who could testify as to these cattle importations into Polk county, and concerning the astonishing numbers of herders required to take care of them that particular year, and what an astonishing improvement the cattle-herding business effected in the aggregate Democratic vote of Polk county. There are plenty of people still living in Polk, who distinctly remember that as soon as the election was over, these cattle owners suddenly found that they could find better grass nearer home, or that a band of twelve cattle did not require the services of six herders, and that the emigration of cattle and herders from Polk county just after the election was as remarkable as had been before the election the immigration into the county. It is as well known as any other fact connected with the politics of Polk county, and as easily provable, that, since 1864, there has not been more than one or two elections in which the importation fraud was not practiced shamelessly by the Democratic managers. And now comes the Bethel Democratic club and declares itself alarmed lest the Republicans of Polk shall import voters! and calls for help to secure a "fair and honest election!" For frigid effrontery commend us to the Democracy of Polk county. The fact, as we have been informed, is that the usual flight of birds from Marion county into Polk, has already begun; and this outcry of the Bethel Democracy is, doubtless, the thief's cry of "stop thief!"

Congress was Right

The riotous and disgraceful scenes enacted at the opening of the Georgia Legislature (see the dispatches) show that the same insubordinate, "chivalrous" element which swept that State into the rebellion and which some months ago revolutionized a constitutionally chosen Legislature, is still rampant and bent upon having its will by force and bravado. Congress was told that this spirit was prevalent, that it was defiant and intolerant, that the rebel spirit had not been reconstructed, and that, without Congressional interference, there was no safety for Union men, either as to private or political rights, property or life The proof of such a state of things was clear. Congress acted upon it, and the event shows that Congress was right, We hope that the Bryants of Georgia and the riotous crowd that cheered on that representative Chiv who undertook to "run" the Legislature on the 12th, will now receive a lesson sufficiently explicit to be thoroughly understood and remembered, and we mistake the temper of the American Congress if it do not administer such a lesson

Editorial Notes

And now comes Kansas and gets ahead of Washington Territory, Wyoming and Iowa, in the matter of liberality to women The Legislature met a day or two since and the House of Representatives elected Miss Emma Campbell Estrolling Clark and filled all the other offices with either crippled soldiers, or widows and orphans of soldiers Kansas is marching on, truly So are the women.

The New York Times is engaged in a commendably active and earnest effort to secure a reduction of the taxes In one of the latest issues received, we find an article in regard to cheaper transportation, and how it may be secured, in which it shows how the high rates charged for freight are bearing heavily upon the producing energies of the whole country, and suggests one or two measures for relief It says "The cost of transportation may be largely reduced at once by removing the tax of two and a half per cent on the gross receipts of railroads, express companies, canals, ferries, steamboats, ships and barges This would reduce the cost of the transportation of the country from eight to ten millions of dollars It recommends further a reduction of the tariff on pig and scrap iron and removing it altogether from coal The present duty on imported iron is $9 per ton Mr Wells estimates that a tariff of $3 per ton will be sufficient to enable the domestic manufacturer to compete with the imported article The difference to the industries of the country between the present tariff and that recommended by Mr Wells would amount to over $18 000 000 The Times calls upon Congress to ascertain what duty upon iron will protect the domestic manufacturer and then reduce the tariff to that figure whether it be $3, $5 or $6

The indiscreetly loud talk of some of the slightly 'elevated' Democratic committee men who met in this city the other day revealed something of the nature of the approaching campaign as Democrats propose to conduct it. Imprimus the election is to be carried Democratic without regard to means or consequences The campaign is to be carried through to that end though it should cost a "mint of money, and, if necessary, lead to "fighting such as was never seen in this State" The campaign is to be "such a campaign as the Blacks never saw" The Democratic party is better organized than ever before and has "more and better fighters than the Blacks can raise," and "the Blacks will see sights before this campaign is over," etc. These phrases we have quoted, sufficiently indicate the temper of some of the leading managers, and it may be, their purposes. We do not expect a tame canvass nor do we wish one, but we hope, for the dignity of the people of Oregon, that thuggery will not be permitted to become an element in the contest, and especially do we hope that Republicans will refrain from the use of such aids to success Better be in a hopeless minority than to owe the possession of office to the vile means of ballot box stuffing, by whisky-soaked and purchased thugs But resistance to thuggery is quite another thing, and we dare predict that as far as that, the Republicans of the State will be found on hand to take an equal and fair part in this election, and to see whatever "sights" are to be shown by the Democracy "or any other man."

The course of lectures projected for the benefit of Tacoma Library and the edification of its friends and members, was interrupted by the holiday season but the next lecture in order—the second—will be delivered by Gen Ferry on next Thursday evening the 11th inst The topic is announced to be, Woman's Rights

The past week has been a season of uninterrupted pleasant weather, for this time of year Several days have been clear and warm, others more chilly, owing to a dense fog which while resting a few hundred feet above the houses partially obscured the sun If spring comes now and without our having any severer storms or frosts, this will long be remembered as one of the most noted of Washington Territory's mild winters

The predictions of a high tide, with which Captain Saxby disturbed the peace of all ports and harbors, reached Singapore in due course, and incited the merchants and municipality to erect barriers to stem its anticipated invasion The alarmed citizens expended about $10 000 and on the day of the expected inundation the tide was not quite so high as usual

[From the Chicago Tribune]

A humbug, an original alligator [illegible] brought to terra firma wood, is the case of Jeremiah Ashley a concurrence of wind, belly and hair [illegible] to General Grant has just removed from a Governorship which he should never have received

ASHLEY.

This man never injured anybody intentionally but his life has always been an abuse of existence. A pioneer in folly, never restrained by those considerations which keep some thoughtful and make others afraid he paraded upon the ramparts of State in the guise of a hero when he should have been in the bomb proof refectory, fattening upon his master's stores He made his name as prominent as his shape by first roaring for the impeachment of Andrew Johnson and yet had not enough respect in the House to be elected prosecutor and when his demand had been acceded to he still seemed to obtain the credit for it Neither friend nor foe ever picked him out as a man upon whom any serious purpose could rest but even in this regard he deceived suspicion, for he was always sincerely selfish and covert under his folds of fat and laughter Regarded as a serious being he was preposterous, and as an innocent creature he was a snare, and so he went to Montana to be Governor with the Case letter roaring behind him His career in Montana is said to have shown how little faith could be reposed in the original inspector, and swift disgust pursued and slew him It is to hoped that this worthless person is at last disposed of History might have wavered between judging him ostensibly for an idiot or inferentially for a timeserver, but will now probably forego the distinction and be indifferent about it In a card just published here Ashley calls himself a public man" What perversion of terms and sexes! I thought at once of

ANOTHER 'PUBLIC MAN"

By some one of those unaccountable inundations which drive wharf rats ashore, and make poor houses yawn, the person referred to has been lovely since Congress assembled, and may be seen daily in the Capitol, fluctuating between Downing's restaurant and the reception room of the Senate a consumptive old bummer with curled moustaches very fierce, and a ragged old blanket thrown across his shoulders a cane in his hand borrowed boots, a spotted brown necktie and a gorgeously figured vest His left hand is always twisting his moustache up into additional fierceness, while his right leans heavily upon his cane to save him from twinges of rheumatism His face is not without imposing characteristics and the old vagrant has fought age step by step, clutching on life desperately. His career is a mild exponent of the force of an original predilection for living off men of the world and amongst them He came to Washington in the hey day of Southern dominion, was a convenient time server, an amusing bar room acquaintance and a man of tailorly appearance, dressed in the height of splendor For some time he kept his head level, next he descended to being a harmless curiosity whose company paid for his extortion, then the became the pa[illegible] ge of gamblers and worse. What terrible struggle with hunger he has had, what secret misgivings of suicide, what human yearnings for death, what aroused instants of sincere and tearful shame, we may never know A Wandering Jew in the world of politics, a dauntless outcast too timid for crime, he has illustrated here the extremest miseries of the man who deliberately evades the social contract and trusts to the idle charities of the profligate of his own sex. The brave old vagrant is near the end of his days. The feet of inevitable ravens show round his eyes. His stars of precipitate and grateful recognition grows more piteous What loneliness! What resources! God help us all in our fight for existence!

MAN FROM DELAWARE.

Since the day of Karmer, the witness in the impeachment trial, who told Lafayette Thomas to "stand up, for the eyes of Delaware were on him," there has been no voice from that little sovereignty until yesterday, when Benjamin Biggs—what a name for Dickens!—expressed himself upon the subject of Georgia and the fifteenth Amendment Biggs is a clever little piece of gristle and bellows, and we may imagine with what enthusiastic admiration these fragments of his address will reverberate between the Pimka tank and the Chincoteague

"Sir," sayeth Benjamin Biggs, "had such a bill as this been introduced in the Congress of the United States twelve or fifteen years ago, it would have convulsed this empire from the Atlantic to the Pacific seas It would have caused this nation to reel and rock as if shaken by a mighty earthquake. It would have caused such an indignation in the minds of the American people, jealous of their rights and liberty, that they would assemble en masse and gather up both Houses of Congress and pitch them head and heels into the Potomac Sir, pass this bill in its present obnoxious shape, and you strike a blow at the pillars on which our republican edifice rests Pass this bill and you strike down the sovereignty of the States and open the way to a consolidated government, and my own little 'Diamond State' is crushed. Sir, in behalf the brave and generous people I have the honor to represent on this floor, I protest against the passage of this bill "

One would have thought that it was all up with the bill when Benjamin Biggs had expressed himself to that extent But, no! the remorseless Butler swept on like a besom of destruction, and my own little Diamond State was reduced to charcoal.

BUTLER AND BINGHAM

The unlike natures Bingham and Butler, have crossed orbits again and threaten concussion and combustion Bingham put himself in a technically false place yesterday, by quoting the President's intentions, to influence legislation —a piece of legislative discourtesy that Butler had not the magnanimity not to see and to assail Butler has gone all awry again on the reconstruction question, from a constitutional incapacity to be temperate in everything, and partly by the demon of opposition which always masters him After his letter to Greeley, the other day, a letter mainly remarkable for its captious insolence and bad spirit, Butler found himself hurried along in his own violence, and it is, perhaps, well that he has lost another chance of recovering popularity in the South, for he can scarce be anything without being mischievous Butler is afraid to spar with S S Cox, and refused him the floor the other day when Cox was driving him hard with mutual personalities He is afraid of Bingham too, when that old rhetorical crab apple injects himself into debate and expands the entire contents of his nature in one paragraph of venom

To day the Supreme Court adjourned for a month and Congress till the 10th of January About one tenth of the members and Senators will remain here during the recess Trade and business here grows steadily duller Many houses are empty. There are enough business to plow the city to do the exchanges of 300 000 people and only about 80,000 to do them upon

ALEXANDER HAMILTON

A member of Congress informed me, on Sunday last that some person or persons had abstracted from the State archives the official copy of a letter written by the great Federalist, Alexander Hamilton acknowledging an intrigue with a female during the period of his official life —who female for sometime after, levied black mail upon Hamilton —and that these same persons had also hunted up and procured every copy extant of a printed edition of the same letter and the supposition was that the whole record had been annihilated

I beg leave to say that all this pious burglary of libraries and archives is without avail for a private edition of the said pamphlet was struck off in Philadelphia, in the year 1860, and many copies of the reprint still exist beyond the reach of the wrath of the Hamiltons

This sort of conspiracy against history is all purposeless and unworthy and it is a poor way to vindicate the good name of a friend or relative by stealing what he was frank enough to avow and atone for While looking over some bound pamphlets in the library, the other day, I found two torn out of the collection and reporting it to the Librarian, he said that the motive in such cases was generally family or partisan pride of ancestry The rare pamphlet referred to is nothing to the discredit of the opponent of Jefferson and the rival of John Adams It shows him to have been what Stone's statue and tradition affirm a warm blooded being not above animal temptation, but proud of his honor in things official and trustworthy, and he preferred when driven to the wall to sacrifice his credit in the face of his wife and children rather than the credit of his office and his country There probably never was an instance of more noble candor in any American official than Hamilton thus surrendering his private respect to save his public fame and this is far different now a days when a man plays the prude at home and the thief in his office preaches on Sunday and takes government coal and horses to his residence on Monday and dines his Bishop on Thanksgiving Day with the assistance of servants sweating for the expense of their livery and looking to the public treasury for their pay

To prevent further blunder on the part of Hamilton's thin skinned friends, I shall put in print what they are afraid of and perhaps this will end all ridiculous attempts to "make that which has been not be "

ALEXANDER HAMILTON'S TEMPTATION

I take the few paragraphs of this tolerably bulky pamphlet from an autograph copy owned by William Duane and inscribed with his name, March 28 1798 The title is "Observations on Certain Documents Contained in Nos. V and VI of The History of the United States for the year 1796, in which the charge of speculation against Alexander Hamilton, late Secretary of the Treasury is fully refuted Written by himself Philadelphia printed for John Fenno, by John Bioren 1797

Hamilton shows in this pamphlet all his graces of literary composition, and strikes from the shoulder at the outset

The charge against me" he says "is a connection with one James Reynolds for purposes of improper pecuniary speculation My real crime is an amorous connection with his wife, for a considerable time with his privity and connivance if not originally brought on by a combination between the husband and wife with the design to extort money from me

The next salient point is this, well worded

"This confession is not made without a blush I cannot be the apologist of any vice because the ardor of passion may have made it mine I can never cease to condemn myself for the pang which it may inflict in a bosom eminently entitled to all my gratitude, fidelity and love But that bosom will approve that even at so great an expense I should effectually wipe away a more serious stain from a name which it cherishes with no less elevation than tenderness

These must, indeed have been hard passages to commit to print and it argues richly for woman that having been assured from his lips of her husband's offenses against her she could forgive him for his honor's sake and when he came home wounded to die, receive him in her arms as if he were stainless Men never do the acts of forgiveness

The gist of Hamilton's confession is in these paragraphs

"Sometime in the summer of the year 1791 a woman called at my house, in the city of Philadelphia and asked to speak with me in private I attended her into a room apart from the family With a seeming air of affliction, she informed me that she was the daughter of a Mr Lewis sister to a Mr G Livingstone, of the State of New York and wife to a Mr Reynolds whose father was in the Commissary Department during the war with Great Britain that her husband who for a long time had treated her very cruelly had lately left her to live with another woman and in so destitute a condition that though desirous of returning to her friends she had not the means that, knowing I was a citizen of New York she had taken the liberty to apply to my humanity for assistance

"I replied that her condition was a very interesting one, that I was disposed to afford her assistance to convey her to her home but this at the moment not being convenient to me (which was the fact) I must request the place of her residence to which I should bring or send a small supply of money She told me the street and the number of the house where she lodged In the evening I put a bank bill in my pocket and went to the house I inquired for Mrs Reynolds and was shown up stairs, at the head of which she met me and conducted me into a bedroom I took the bill out of my pocket and gave it to her Some conversation ensued from which it was quickly apparent that other than pecuniary consolation would be acceptable

"After this I had frequent meetings with her, most of them at my own house Mrs Hamilton, with her children, being absent on a visit to her father

"In the course of a short time she mentioned to me that her husband had solicited a reconciliation and affected to consult me about it I advised to it, and was soon after informed that it had taken place "

The next thing was that the husband wrote to Hamilton that he had discovered the intrigue, and that his heart was crushed, but he wrote shockingly bad English He reproached Hamilton with having taken advantage of his wife's necessities and Mrs Reynolds wrote that he had meant to assassinate the Secretary of the Treasury. Hamilton found himself considerably demoralized He says

"In the workings of human inconsistency it was very possible that the same man might be corrupt enough to compound for his wife's chastity, and yet have sensibility enough to be restless in the situation and to hate the cause of it

Of course, after Hamilton let the real facts out right candidly, his enemies discredited him.

"It is shewed " he says, "that the dread of the disclosure of an amorous connection was not a sufficient cause for my humility, and that I had nothing to lose as to my reputation for chastity concerning which the world had fixed a previous opinion "

He goes on to show that, having first black mailed him for nearly ten thousand dollars the panel thieves then accused him of taking money from the Treasury and entering into speculation with Reynolds and others. This pamphlet is signed Alexander Hamilton, Philadelphia, July, 1797, and in the appendix to it are all the amorous epistles to and fro, which must have made "live" reading when they first saw the light

FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 14, 1870

CITY.

GROWTH.—Portland continues to grow with a degree of rapidity which is a rebuke to croakers and all who would depreciate the eligibility of her position. For a number of years those who do not really care to see Portland flourish and who are desirous of furthering the interests of some village which deemed itself a rival in '49 have been croaking about the prospects of this city and setting themselves as prophets of evil have foretold a decline in her prosperity and an eclipse of her star of progress. But notwithstanding all this, business men, men of means, capitalists have exhibited a sagacity that the present signs of the times prove to have been wise, in the investments made here. No city on the coast or in the Union, of its age exhibits more of the indications of permanent progress than does Portland. So far from the more thickly settled portions of the country, our increase of population has not been so rapid as that of towns where men could make and go in a day, but gradually and steadily she has been filling up, her borders extending and her numbers increasing until a great part of the city now covers what, within the memory of many who are yet boys, was a wilderness of tall firs. The era of progress for our city has about come and a confluence of the same enterprise and liberality heretofore exhibited by her people will make Portland still, as she has been, the leading commercial city of the northwestern coast.

NEEDS AMENDING.—In the provisions of the City Charter for the opening of new streets, there exists a difficulty which some day may prove ... It provides that the owners of property benefitted by the proposed opening of any street shall pay the amount of such benefit, and the owners of property damaged shall receive an amount equal to the damages which impartial appraisers shall determine he has suffered. But it seems to make no provision in a case which may arise in the progress of the city and that is when the whole amount of damages suffered by opening a street shall exceed the whole amount of benefits. In such an instance there is no provision by which the excess can be paid to the property owners damaged, but by an appropriation out of the general fund. Such is partially the state of facts in the matter of the extension of North Tenth street, and the Common Council at its last meeting voted $209 out of the general fund to supply a deficiency in the fund for the extension of the street named. It might be well to have some more definite provision in relation to this matter included in the Charter when the Legislature meets again.

THE UPPER WALLAMET.—Steamboating on the Upper Wallamet seems to be paying pretty well now, judging from the amount of freight received here from that direction, as well as by the reports which reach us from the various points along the river. The Salem Statesman of yesterday says: "The Albany came down yesterday too heavy to be able to stop at Salem for freight, so she went right on for Canemah. The Fannie came down and landed in the creek, where she took on a large lot of flour from the Salem Mills. One who has not noticed the down-going boats would hardly imagine the amount of produce that is going out from Webfoot. This must bring back money or credit, something to make-times

COMPARISON.—Portland has a population of about 8,000. Salem is estimated to have 4,000. A comparative statement of the expense of maintaining the municipal governments of the two cities would indicate a much greater disparity in the population. The amount disbursed from the City Treasury of Salem during the year 1869, in round numbers $8,784 12, while this city paid out for all purposes the sum of $120,629 20. Of course a great portion of the last named sum has been expended in improving the streets, but the actual expenses of running our city government are ... five times as great as that of Salem.

IGNIS FATUUS.—We are informed that for several nights past, those of our East Portland citizens who have been wide enough awake, have been gratified with the appearance of one of these ... lights, on the bottom below the bridge, ... near the eastern end of the bridge and ... in a northerly direction at a distance ... feet from the ground, occasionally becoming so dim as to be invisible and again shining ... and appearing quite brilliant. One ... have been considerably frightened ... supposing it to be a horrid ghost or goblin from the lower regions.

SUGAR.—We observe a very material decline in the price of refined sugar in this market, the ... being from one to two cents lower than ... ago. This is true of the coast generally and is accounted for by the commercial paper of San Francisco on the grounds of the increased ... for refining on this coast, and a determined effort on the part of California stock holders to hold the sugar market of the Pacific.

A GOOD BARGAIN.—To persons who wish to invest in a good, paying and permanent business, we would ... to inquire in relation to the Ferry ... at Buena Vista, Polk county, which is ... for sale by Mr Riggs. There is no doubt ... the bargain there offered is a good one, and ... invested will bring a large return. See the advertisement headed valuable property for sale.

IMPORTANT NEWS.—We learn that important ... to further the building of the West side railroad are in progress in this city, headed by the principal capitalists of the place. We would be gratified to publish the steps which have been taken as matters of interest to our readers, but as we have been unable to obtain any reliable data upon which to base a correct statement of the proceedings.

POLICE MATTERS.—Seven prisoners are now confined in the county jail. The city jail has been unoccupied for some days, no one seeming ... since the rainy weather began, to make items for the papers, work for the police, or a ... bill against the city, by any disorderly manifestations. In the meantime, business before the Recorder is quoted decidedly dull.

EXPORTS.—The total amount of wheat shipped from this port to San Francisco during the year 1869 was 41,659 sacks, flour, quarter sacks, ...; oats, 58,403 sacks, barley, 240 sacks, ..., 1,937 bbls, 8,241 half bbls, 19,729 cases, ...; bacon, 4,723 packages, butter, 1,250 ...; lard, 2,360 packages, pork, 1,712 bbls, dried apples, 4,912 packages.

FREIGHTS.—The boats from Oregon City yesterday came down well loaded, the principal freight being wheat, flour and pork. Of flour, the amount was 2,330 sacks, about 1,000 bushels of wheat, and 125 head of dressed hogs. The hogs were raised and slaughtered in Linn county and were designed for the packing house of A. P. ... of this city.

CITY LICENSE.—Auditor Caldwell suggested to us to-day that we could aid the City Treasury to some extent by advising all persons liable to pay city license from the first of the present month, to come up and pay for and take out the same. The time for obtaining license for the current quarter is almost expired.

THEATRICAL.—A telegram was received from Mr Bates, yesterday, stating that he had engaged a burlesque troupe in San Francisco for the theater here, and would sail for Portland on the next ... Mr Vincent, who was here last year and was considered quite a favorite on the stage is one of the company coming.

THE FALKINBURG.—The Jane A. Falkinburg ... plying between this port and San Francisco, left the latter place the 28th of December for Honolulu, via. Humboldt, with 300,000 feet of lumber and 200 000 shingles. We hear that it is ... that she come direct to this city on her ...

PARLOR READINGS.—An entertainment will be given at the Unitarian Chapel on next Tuesday evening, the 18th inst, consisting of parlor readings and other exercises. Price of admission fifty cents. Tickets can be had at the bookstores or at Hillman's Music Store on First street.

OCCUPIED.—We learn that about all the offices ready for occupancy in the Odd Fellows' building have been taken at a good paying figure. The upper story, designed for the use of the order is fast being finished, and will be ready for the dedication ceremonies at an early day.

NEXT FAIR.—The ball for the benefit of Non... Lodge, given at Prof Cardinell's hall last night, was a very well conducted and pleasant affair. The gentlemen were considerably in the majority, but still the entire crowd seemed to enjoy the exercises well.

COURT AT ASTORIA.—The late term of the Circuit Court at Astoria held by Judge Upton, must have afforded a barren field for lawyers. The term began on Tuesday and closed on Wednesday. But little business was transacted and that little unimportant in its character.

INJURED.—A man at work on a wood scow at one of the city wharves yesterday had his foot injured by a heavy log of wood falling upon it. The wound, however, is not serious and a few days lameness will be the only damage to insure.

AN TEEM.—A team with a vegetable wagon attached ran away on Clay street yesterday morning and scattered the contents of the wagon along the muddy street in a manner grievous for the owner to see. No serious damage was done.

COMING.—The steamship California to be run on the route between Portland and Victoria, is said to be en route for this place. This is a street rumor, and may be true or not. She is advertised to leave here on the 15th inst.

WILL MEET.—The Workingmen's Association of East Portland will meet Saturday evening. We did not learn the object of the meeting, but presume we will be able to lay the proceedings before our readers hereafter.

LOOK AND SEE.—Always look at the commercial report on the fourth page of the OREGONIAN and you will find the state of the markets in San Francisco the price of greenbacks and the latest New York gold quotations.

COLLIDED.—A buggy collided with a wagon on the macadamised road yesterday, and the owner of the wagon hauled the buggy and load back to town. Beyond a broken wheel of the buggy, the damage was slight.

CONTRADICTED.—The Salem Statesman contradicts the report that was telegraphed to San Francisco from that place last week to the effect that Courtney Meek crossed the river at Salem on the 6th inst.

BUSINESS NOTICE.—We call special attention to the advertisement of Wm Davidson, announcing the engagement of Mr W F Brown as an assistant in the Real Estate and Collecting business.

LIVE YANKEE.—We learn that this bark will have a full cargo in her hold in a day or two more. She will probably not sail before Monday.

RAIN.—The rain fell pretty constantly in this region all day yesterday. Warm winds from the south indicate a continuance of the shower.

LONG STAY.—The Ajax will make quite a stay at this port before sailing again. She will not leave until Tuesday next.

U S CIRCUIT COURT.—This Court met yesterday morning at 10 A. M., and adjourned until to-day.

Railroad Matters at Astoria.

MEETING OF THE A. & S. R. R. CO.—RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED ASKING FOR A LAND SUBSIDY.

On the 12th inst a meeting of the Astoria and Salem Railroad Co and others, was held at Astoria. Mr A Hinman was called to the Chair and Mr S. D Adair was chosen Secretary.

Speeches in favor of railroad connection with the Wallamet Valley were made by Messrs Jas K Kelley, A. C Gibbs and W. W. Upton of Portland, W C Johnson of Oregon City, Col J Taylor, A Hinnman, A K Bush, T P Powers, J Moffatt and J Jeffers of Astoria, and Dr Minor of Port Townsend.

Great enthusiasm for the Railroad prevailed.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, the Congress of the United States has hitherto acted upon the policy of making liberal grants of public lands to companies constructing railroads through unsettled and undeveloped portions of various States,

AND WHEREAS in this State such grants have been made to comparatively unimportant wagon roads, constructed of clay and timber,

AND WHEREAS there lies on the route of the road proposed to be built by this company, between here and the Wallamet Valley, a large quantity of mountain and undeveloped land, almost valueless in its present condition, and which will not be available for purposes of sale by the Government of the United States without the construction of a railroad through the same, for a long series of years, but which is very desirable if means of access are provided.

AND WHEREAS, the great valleys of the Wallamet and Columbia, which send forth products and consume the imports which are the basis of the commerce of our State, need and demand a cheaper and more certain mode of reaching the ocean with their products, and receiving therefrom their supplies from abroad than the one now available.

AND WHEREAS, the farmers of the two great valleys named are unable to realize any profit from their labors because it costs them so much to forward their products to any available market and to bring their purchases to their doors.

AND WHEREAS, These difficulties result in a great measure from the forced and unnatural arrangement of our commerce, and the great number of hands through which these products and supplies must pass before reaching their destination, therefore,

Resolved, That the construction of the rail road proposed by this Company would give new life and success to the farming interests of the Willamette Valley.

Resolved, That it would open up and develop a large portion of country now valueless, and render the lands which the Government would retain of far greater value in the market than the whole of them now are.

Resolved, That the construction of such a road would do no injury to any portion of our State, but be of advantage to every part.

Resolved, That we ask of the Congress such a grant of lands along the line of the proposed road as will properly aid the construction of the same, and request our Senators and Representative in Congress to use their earnest endeavors, to secure the passage of such an act as will accomplish what we desire in this respect.

Resolved, That the Secretary be requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to each of our Senators and Representative in Congress, and also to the various newspapers of the State for publication.

The Halifax Chronicle, in the course of an article upon Canadian annexation reasons thus: "The market of the United States is necessary to ourselves. The market of Great Britain is not. Dreams will not clothe our children. The warmth of the shade of a brave flag will not compensate for a barefoot winter."

The first street railway in Philadelphia was laid in 1857. The present number is sixteen and the combined capital is about $12,000,000, of which nearly one half is paid in. A total length of track in 1857 of five miles has been extended until now it is more than two hundred miles long.

NOWHERE can a few hundred dollars be so well invested as in the Puget Sound Homestead Association. It will insure each shareholder an interest in the great city to be built at the terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad. Over One Hundred Shares are already taken. Persons desiring to become stockholders will do well to call soon and enroll their names.

Home Questions for the Sickly and Debilitated.

Is it worth while to endure penal torture after every meal when indigestion can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by so agreeable a remedy as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS?

Does it pay to be compelled by debility and languor to abandon active business when brain nerve and muscle can be braced up, and the whole system restored to a healthy condition, by a course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Why approach the dinner table daily with a positive disgust for all that is savory and delicious when a vigorous appetite for even the plainest fare is created by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it wise to live in this bright world as if it were a dungeon, gloomy, discontented and miserable, when the worst case of hypochondria can be cured in a week by such a pleasant and wholesome exhilarant as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Can it be possible that any person of billous habit will run the risk of remittent fever or billious colic when he can tone and regulate the great secretive organ with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it not a species of moral insanity for any miner or planter in the interior, or any traveler or sojourner on the placers to be without the best known antidote to the effects of poisoned air and impure water, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Considering the harassing and depressing nature of the functional derangements to which woman is subject, is it not astonishing that any invalid of the feebler sex should hesitate to seek the certain relief afforded in such cases, by the genial operation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

These are questions of deeper interest than any of the political dogmas of the day, and those whom they concern are invited to give them something more than a passing thought.

G. VENARD,

CHARTRES COFFEE!

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.

STEAM POWER, NOS 623 AND 627 FRONT ST

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions. The sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some ... and every day he sees increasing the ... of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned, and put on their guard against this practice.

The Red River Troubles

EXACT STATEMENT OF THE SITUATION. THE GUNPOWDER PLOT.

(From the Toronto Globe, Dec. 25.)

No money has yet been paid by the Government to the Hudson's Bay Company to complete the purchase of the North-West Territory, no proclamation of any change has been made in England, and the Government is still in the hands of the Company. It appears that when McDougall left to assume the position of Governor of the North-West Territory, he was instructed by the Government here that the purchase would be made by 1st December, and that he should, therefore, issue his proclamation on 1st December. When the Government found that an insurrection at Red River was threatened, they determined to leave the Territory in the hands of the Hudson's Bay Company until spring; and, it is said, they dispatched a messenger to McDougall, apprising him of this, and ordering him not to issue his proclamation. McDougall, it is said, did not receive his instructions in time. The proclamation spoken of at Red River as the Queen's Proclamation is the one issued by McDougall. As the Government does not intend to complete the purchase till spring, it is fully expected McDougall will be recalled.

SCHULTZ'S GUNPOWDER PLOT.

[Fort Garry Cor of the St. Paul Press, Dec. 25.]

FORT GARRY, Dec. 11.

People of America, friends of liberty and humanity, we, your friendly neighbors of the Red River Settlement, hasten to offer you our heart-felt thanks for the encouragement and approbation you have given us. We needed encouragement, for ours is a struggle for life or death. We are already scented by the bloodhounds. We are proud of the approbation of the American people. This will shield us from the misrepresentation of our enemies. We are as children who have had a narrow escape from being strangled, and are yet exposed to the barbarian's knife; but America kindly extends to us the arm of protection, and encourages us with her smile of approbation. She has advocated our cause before the world. She defends us young aspirants to liberty from our enemies, who would take advantage of our youthfulness to cut our throats.

Some time ago we arose to a man in defense of our rights, which were declared by the public press to be just. We expelled the invaders of our rights. But what measures do they take? Baffled in the attempt to seize upon our lands, and unable to have immediately reinforcements from Canada, they resort to an infernal stratagem. Mr. McDougall writes to one of his satellites, Mr. Dennis, authorizing him to issue a proclamation in the Queen's name calling upon all loyal subjects to take up arms against the rebels, to pillage and burn their dwellings, to seize or destroy their cattle; in fact, engaging them to destroy at discretion the lives and property of all opposed to the entry of Mr. McDougall. Happily for the peace of the settlement all classes of the population were too much in our favor to respond to the call. But this "Hell Fire Club" devised another plan. They spread a rumor that discord and discontent reigned in our ranks, and so it was resolved to foment this disunion, and at the same time to raise a force to drive the rebels from Fort Garry. There was a high price given for traitors, but there was none to be found for any money. Their arms and 10 shillings a day were provided from some unknown source, probably by the generosity of the Honorable Hudson's Bay Company (some of those who were engaged have declared so, anyhow.) These arms and pay were given to all who would enter the lists for the loyal cause. This plan succeeded so well that there was a force of about 100 men, armed to the teeth, quartered in the town of Winnipeg awaiting an opportunity of attack. Seeing that we, instead of being disunited, recruited our ranks daily by 50 or 100, the loyal force gradually diminished. A remnant, however, remained closely quartered in the house of a certain Mr. Schultz (an individual truly worthy of the presidency of the "Hell Fire Club" or of the "Star Chamber Council.") We warned them often but in vain to disperse if they wished to save their lives. At last obliged to yield to superior numbers they surrendered themselves prisoners, about thirty-six in number. Not wishing to treat them as they deserved, we quartered them in Fort Garry prison. We disarmed them and took possession of the house. We discovered that an attack had been prepared by which they could have shot down several hundred without loading a second time. We could not account for our narrow escape—we suspected some plot. They told us by letter in the morning that they had made up their minds to surrender, but from that moment till their capture in the evening they were busily engaged in preparing a truly diabolical snare. When we took possession of the evacuated premises what did we discover? Large quantities of gunpowder hidden in the flooring, under the carpets, in the very ashes of the fire-place and adjacent to it—moreover, revolvers and firearms of every description, loaded and placed in a position to destroy life. But though the weather was cold our men continued the search before affording themselves the comfort of a fire in the stoves. By an evident inspiration of Divine Providence they examined even the stoves and stovepipes, and what think you did they find? flasks of powder stuffed up through the pipes, as well as firearms, loaded rifles, sixteen-shooters, &c., arranged so as to destroy those in the house. Moreover, in the vicinity of the pipes, and immediately within the reach of the fire, they discovered several kegs of gunpowder, and in the whole concern there were about fifty kegs, so that if our men had made a fire in the stoves not only they but the whole town of Winnipeg would have perished by the flames. But the hand of Providence, which seems to have blessed our efforts from the commencement, has protected us also from this treacherous stroke.

From these facts, judge the nature and character of our enemies, and the fate that awaited us had we fallen into their hands.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, Jan. 13, 1870.

Latest New York gold quotations 122¼.

Legal Tender rates in San Francisco 82 buying and 83 selling.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 81 buying, and 82 selling.

The money market, seems fully as easy as could be expected at this early day in the new year. Eastern reports all contradict the fear of any great financial pressure. So far during the month the gold market at New York has been quite steady at from 120@122, and all the indications at present are for a downward tendency. This is corroborated by a statement made by the Controller of the Treasury compiling returns up to a late date in December, from the 1st of October last. From this compilation we gather the information that there was in the New York City Banks on the 9th of October, $19,704,389, but on the 18th of December it was $30,068,995, being $10,364,606 more. The Boston city banks held $1,380,964, against $2,436,577 in December; and the Philadelphia city banks held only $139,225 in October, against $1,116,271 at the close of the year, showing a total increase of $11,772,485 in the three cities. It is only fair to presume that the increase of surplus gold in other prominent places in the country has been proportionately great. The United States Treasury is now engaged in disbursing $32,000,000 more for accrued interest, and continuing its sales of from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 per month.

In view of all these facts, it is not likely that any very determined effort will be made to force up the price of gold just yet. The field is not promising. There is little or no demand for gold, except for the payment of customs, especially at this season of the year, when our imports dwindle down greatly, and our exports and bonds are sufficient to offset the cost of imports, at the same time the treasure exports from New York from January 1st to December 18th, 1869, only amounted to $31,199,000, against 69,958,000 for the same period last year, showing a decrease of $38,759,000. Hence, every view which we can take of the matter is against any immediate rise in gold. The increase of the paper currency of the country by Congress now in session, which is not at all likely, is the only cause which would directly tend to that result.

In trade circles some changes are noted, though business is fully as quiet as is usual at this period. Midwinter is never a lively commercial season, transactions being generally local, and, no extensive importations coming to hand, the ordinary clearing out process for spring stocks goes quietly on. Merchants are not accustomed to look for activity in the general markets at this time of the year and an average business satisfies their expectations and checks the complaint of dull times.

Our home market presents some changes, the most noticeable being a general decline in refined sugars, all the varieties of which seem settling to a lower figure. This may be and is perhaps owing to the determination on the part of the California refiners to control the sugar market of the coast.

The produce market of Portland affords but little that may be the subject of a review which would present any new facts to business men. The receipts of grain, flour and pork from the Wallamet Valley continue to increase, and the late rains enabling the boats to run to points further up the river, will enhance the quantity to arrive. In flour there appears to be more dullness than at our last report, owing principally to the absence of shipping and a consequent lull in the demand for export.

Wheat and oats are firm at our figures, though late reports from California make buyers of the former rather more cautious, as some shipments have arrived in bad condition, being damaged by the wet weather about harvest time.

Family grocers and dry goods dealers are having but limited transactions. Stocks are good and prices moderate.

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF WM. A. Ebinger, deceased, Jacob Stitzel guardian—Citation. Now upon this day, upon reading and filing the petition of Jacob Stitzel, Guardian of the minor heirs of Wm. A. Ebinger, deceased, and it appearing therefrom that the personal property of said estate is insufficient to pay the debts and charges against the same, and that a sale of real estate for that purpose is prayed for, it is ordered that citation issue to the heirs of said William A. Ebinger, deceased, and to all others unknown who may have any interest in said estate to appear at the February term of this court, to be held at Portland on the first Monday of February, 1870, to show cause if any exist, why an order of sale should not be made as in said petition prayed for, and why Lot number Eight (8) in Block Thirty (30), in Couch's addition to the city of Portland, in the county of Multnomah and State of Oregon, part of the real estate of said deceased, should not be sold to pay the debts against said estate; therefore it is ordered by the court that citation be made according to law.

P. A. Marquam, County Judge of Multnomah county.

JACOB STITZEL, Guardian.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated, during the few months in which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and the vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E. B. MOORE,	NATHANIEL BELL,
A. L. WALLACE,	G. EDWARD,
Mrs. MONTGOMERY,	JOHN M. HOLLOWAY,
W. D. PORTER,	ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity.

Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.

BURTON'S BALSAMIC COMPOUND

THE GRAND DESIDERATUM OF THE AGE!

AMONG THE MOST PAINFUL AND TRYING disorders to which the human family is liable, are those engendered by affections of the organs, resulting either from the contaminating influence of a tainted person, or an constitutional and [illegible] infirmity. Nothing tends more to impair vitality and undermine the very foundation of life, than the neglect or improper treatment of such [illegible].

In the former case, the malady becomes often incurable, and in the latter, the weakened, and in most cases destroyed by the use of powerful and deleterious medicines.

The BALSAMIC COMPOUND, after a careful experience is now confidently announced to the public as an infallible and safe specific for those [illegible] and widely spread diseases above referred to, and all complaints of the Urinary and Genital Organs.

As a Preventive of those deplorable [illegible] often the result of imprudence, the [illegible] will be unfailing in its efficacy. It possesses the advantage of being taken without any restriction in diet, and as it is a purely vegetable [illegible] may in all cases be used with perfect safety. [illegible] Portland by B. O.
